

ALPINE AND SAN MATEO ROADS WIN STATE HELP

Climaxing a long fight by civic bodies of the peninsula, the first unit of the "San Joaquin to the Sea" and the Alpine road projects were approved today by the California Highway Commission and will be recommended to the 1933 legislature for inclusion in the secondary highway system.

The Alpine road project, connecting the Portola road with the Skyline boulevard, is the longer of the two.

The road will run over the route of the Alpine road from the Portola-Alpine junction to the Alpine-Skyline boulevard junction.

In time, it is proposed to extend the road from the Portola-Alpine junction to connect with the Bayshore highway.

Better known of the two projects is the "San Joaquin to the Sea" highway, which would connect El Camino Real, San Mateo, with the Skyline boulevard along the route of the San Mateo creek.

It is 3.2 miles in length and some work is now being done on the road by Supervisor Rosalie M. Brown of that district.

County Gets 9.2 Miles

These two San Mateo county projects give the peninsula 9.2 miles out of 86 miles which Northern California was permitted to select for inclusion in the secondary system.

The situation was particularly acute in the North, where the commissioners had to wrestle with the problem of approving 86 miles out of 2700 miles requested.

Thirty-one projects, 12 in Northern California and 19 in Southern California, with one overlapping unit, were approved by the commission.

In making their selection of roads to be taken over the commissioners faced an exceedingly difficult task, being bound by mandate of the legislature to confine their recommendations to a total not exceeding 15 per cent of the state secondary mileage as it existed on January 1, 1931.

This limitation permitted the addition of only 345 miles to be divided between the North and South as provided by the legislature "in a ratio of not less than three nor more than four miles in the South to one in the North," which allowed 86 miles for the North and 259 miles for the South.

New Homes Going Up In Atherton

Fleishacker Corner Accepted For Road Straightening

ATHERTON, July 27.—An increase of approximately $12,000 in building permits issued in Atherton during the month of July to date as compared with those issued in July, 1931, was reported at a meeting of the council here yesterday by Thomas Packham, clerk.

The figure for this month, $17,276, included permits to build two new residences on Tuscaloosa avenue west of Austin avenue. They were issued to D. H. Carlson and Miss A. H. Ashplund.

Permits issued in July a year ago totaled $5,900.

A resolution of acceptance of the deed to a strip of property at the southwest corner of El Camino Real and Fair Oaks Lane by Mrs. May Belle Fleishacker was passed by the council.

Gift of the property to the town of Atherton has made possible the widening of the intersection in accordance with traffic needs at that point.

Packham announced that $6,000 in street improvement bonds had been retired with interest.

Sitting with the full council yesterday were Arthur H. Redington, town attorney, and Matthew A. Harris, former mayor.

325 Men Register For Work In R. C.

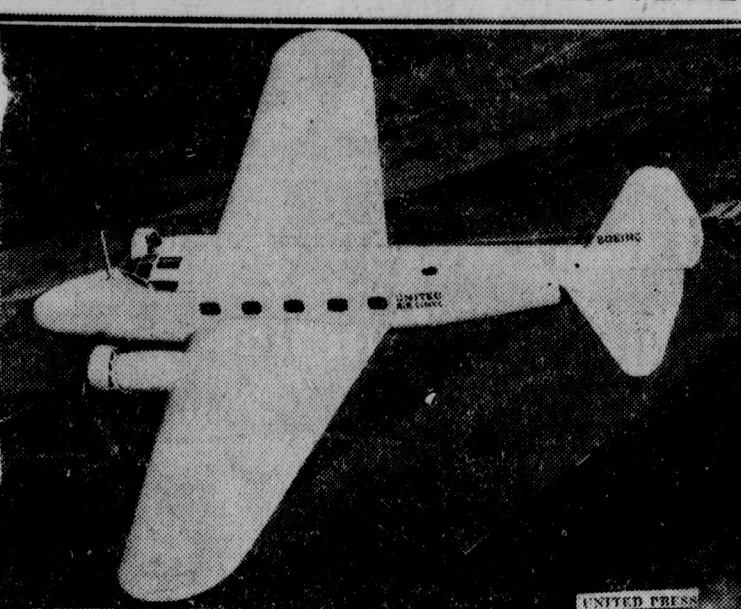

With 325 unemployed men registered locally there is a balance on hand of $409 in the unemployment relief fund, according to the weekly report today of Elmer M. Rowland, registrar.

There were 25 men placed last week, and a total of 86 working days, or 688 hours, was provided, as follows: county, 48 days; odd jobs, 19; city, 19.

Fourteen additional registrations were recorded during the week.

The central committee on unemployment relief did not hold its regular meeting Monday but will resume its weekly conferences at 4 p. m. Monday at the offices of Charles G. Lambert on Broadway.

Tips On Retailing Given By Director Of Trade-At-Home Campaign To R.C. Merchants

"Anybody can sell what the people want. The secret of retail selling is to sell the additional articles suggested at the time of the original sale."

"Get acquainted with your fellow merchants and don't knock them. Let your store attract customers as your associates are attracted by your personality."

"If you've got something to sell, you might as well keep it in the firehouse, unless you advertise it. Plan a campaign with your newspaper. Be truthful. Try to meet competitive prices. Be aggressive. Foodstuffs are as cheap here as anywhere. The people have learned this, through advertising."

These were some of the tips given to Redwood City merchants and their employees by Frank Holiday, director of the current buy-in-Redwood City movement, at a meeting in the firehouse auditorium Monday night. Holiday has been secured by the First National Bank to stop the flow of money out of town and turn it through the cash registers of local stores, shops and offices.

"It is not always possible to compete with prices elsewhere," said Holiday, "but sell a few articles at cost, if you have to, and advertise that fact in the newspapers and in your show windows."

Holiday said that 33 1/2 per cent of retail sales were due to efficient window displays. He urged that the windows be kept clean; that they be properly illuminated; and that the interior of the stores be also well illuminated.

"Keep your windows lighted longer at night, and encourage window shopping. Keep room in your aisles, so that people may move freely through your store," said Holiday.

California's buying power leads the nation, the speaker stated, and Redwood City is in the center of the best per capita retail buying spot in the United States. Yet Redwood City, with a per capita average of $610, is below the $729 average for the state. Based on the population, this means a loss of $1,066,478 yearly, which, if spent here, would fill the stores now vacant and put over 400 people to work.

Eleven thousand pieces of advertising matter telling the story of the trade-at-home movement have been issued.

George McQueen, introduced Holiday in the absence of Edward T. Harrison, who was unable to be present.

Three Men Escape In Auto's Plunge

Three men returning from the Woodside Fire Department's barbecue at Searsville Lake Tuesday narrowly escaped death when their car ran off Hillsdale drive and plunged 20 feet before striking a tree.

They were Arthur Woodmansee, manager of the City Directory Company, of Woodside; Glenn; William Jackson, Woodside; and Dave Riley, San Francisco chauffeur.

Woodmansee's car was halted from a further plunge of 100 feet by the tree.

The occupants of the car escaped injuries except for bruises.

Hospital's Budget Set At $158,000

A tentative budget of $158,898 for the Community Hospital at Beresford was presented to the board of supervisors in Redwood City Wednesday.

This is approximately $1000 higher than last year's budget, which included $21,000 for furnishing of the two floors of the new east wing. The sum this year will provide for 21 new beds in the lower floor, which will cost $4000.

The tax rate for hospital purposes last year was 25 cents 9 mills for maintenance, and 4 cents 8 mills for furnishing, which together totaled 30 cents 7 mills.

The new budget is approved as it stands, the levy will again call for 30 cents.

Other budgets were also before the board today as it conferred with County Auditor Edward M. Stack.

Cullen Is Placed On Year's Probation

Eddie Cullen, member of a well-known Redwood City family, was placed on a year's probation today by Superior Judge Franklin Swart on a charge of hit-run driving. His license to drive pleasure cars was also suspended for one year, but he was permitted to drive commercial vehicles in his business.

Cullen recently ran down and killed John Shermantine, local pioneer.

Burglars Get $200 From Safe

Sudden Lumber Firm Is Entered Here Last Night

A safe in the Sudden Lumber Company office, 1601 El Camino Real, was broken open sometime Monday night and $200 were obtained, Police Chief C. L. Collins was notified Wednesday.

Collins said he had not determined whether one or several cracksmen were involved. Entry was gained through a rear window. The money was in currency. The safe combination was knocked off by using a hammer and floating punch, Collins said.

The offices of the Gray-Thorning Lumber Company at Five Points were also entered, but the prowlers are believed to have been frightened away before breaking into the two safes there.

S. M. Stirred By Highway Decision

San Mateo civic leaders continued to be stirred today over the recommendations of the California Highway Commission yesterday that the Alpine road in Southern San Mateo county be placed in the secondary state system.

Judge John J. McGrath said he would demand a conference with Governor James Rolph as to his stand on the "San Joaquin-to-the-Sea" project. If the governor did not favor it, that fact should be made known, the judge said.

There was nothing to indicate that Rolph did not favor the cross-country highway, but the judge saw the possibility that the nearness of the Rolph ranch had something to do with the inclusion of the Alpine road in the commission's recommendations.

"The fact that the state offers us three miles of the San Mateo-Half Moon Bay road means nothing," Judge McGrath said. "We want the road built clear across the county to eliminate the dangerous existing road," he said.

SYNOPSIS OF CHARTER TO BE ISSUED

Document Will Be In Hands Of Experts In Few Days

San Mateo county supervisors and the county charter study committee met with the board of freeholders in the courthouse in Redwood City Wednesday night.

Chairman Howell of the freeholders discussed phases of the charter, and explained most of its provisions. He said the charter would be in the hands of attorneys and experts for drafting into legislative form, following a meeting tomorrow night.

Then, said Howell, the freeholders will prepare for the public a synopsis of all the charter's provisions. They pointed out that it would not be possible to distribute copies of the charter now, since it would be in the hands of the attorneys; but that the synopsis would be written in understandable terms, and complete in every respect save that of the legal phraseology of the actual charter.

The public will be able to get copies of this synopsis by Monday of next week. This will give a week for the study of the charter before the second week in August, when a public hearing is to be held. At that time, all persons will be given the opportunity of expressing their views concerning the charter.

Chairman Howell thanked the supervisors for their financial and other cooperation which made the charter drafting possible. Supervisors present were Rosalie Brown, John Poole, Thomas Hickey and Chairman Manuel Francis.

Howell also thanked the charter study committee for its assistance in securing data of value to the freeholders. Frederick Peterson, chairman of the committee, also spoke.

BLAZE LEVELS DAIRY PLANT

Night Fire At S. M. Does $20,000 Damage

SAN MATEO, July 28.—Three buildings of the Minehan dairy at Thirty-sixth avenue were destroyed by fire which broke out at 7:30 o'clock last night and was still smoldering at noon today. Damage was estimated at $20,000. Flames attracted thousands of on-lookers from all parts of the peninsula. It was thought the fire was started by defective wiring, as the building had been inspected shortly before by a milkier, who reported no sign of fire at that time.

Besides the buildings destroyed, 200 tons of hay and 70 tons of feed were burned, and valuable machinery used in pasteurizing was destroyed.

One fireman, Francis Meyers, lost the tip of his left index finger and another, finger of the same hand was badly cut by an axe.

Two hundred head of cattle at the dairy were saved.

Sunnyvale Man Hurt In Crash

Frank Rios Injured When Motorcycle, Auto Collide

Frank Rios of Sunnyvale suffered severe injuries at 11:15 o'clock Monday when his motorcycle collided with the rear end of an automobile driven by Howard Smith, 540 Cornell avenue, Palo Alto, just south of Five Points.

Rios was taken to the emergency hospital here and was then transferred to the Community Hospital, Beresford. It is thought that he might have suffered a fracture of the skull.

Chief C. L. Collins and Officers E. G. Fogarty and James Snider investigated.

WASTED NO WORDS

BOSTON.—When George S. Selzer, late of Boston, made out his will, he wasted no words and, consequently, made the shortest will ever admitted in probate court. The will contained only four words and read: "Everything to my wife." The amount of the estate was not divulged.

CONGRESSMAN FREE IN URGE BOARD TO CUT 44 CENTS OFF ROAD TAXES

Congressman Arthur M. Free of San Jose, who represents the Eighth District at Washington, paid a visit to Redwood City Tuesday afternoon, following his recent return from the capital.

He expressed interest in the local harbor project, and was of the opinion that the community might have gone further with it than it did. He said he had secured an appropriation for the improvement of the Redwood City harbor and recently had obtained a favorable report of district and division engineers for the enlargement of the project.

Free, mentioning the San Bruno shoals, said he had secured favorable action before the board of army engineers and rivers and harbor committee of the house of representatives for the improvement of lower San Francisco bay, including the dredging of the shoals and improvements south of Dumbarton bridge.

The government will bear all the expense of deepening the San Bruno shoals, which have been in the way of lower bay development, Free said, and it will bear half the expense of the Redwood City and San Jose harbor projects.

Congress Discussed

Describing it as "the most hectic session I ever attended," Free spoke of the last congress as follows:

"When congress met in December the Democrats organized the house."

"They knew they would do that as far back as the previous March, but they came with no kind of relief program. The president conveyed to congress his program, and pressure from the country forced it through. It was agreed that the matter would be carried out on a non-partisan basis and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation was created under that program."

"The next step was to balance the budget. By extreme insistence of the president, expenditures were cut down a billion dollars a year. The ways and means committee reported a tax bill which had as its basis the manufacturers' sales tax, with slight increase in income, inheritance and gift taxes."

"The LaGuardia of New York, elected one time by a Socialist, organized all but 17 of the Democrats and a few Republicans and took the leadership away from the Democratic majority leader."

"They struck the sales tax provision from the bill and proceeded to write a tax bill as they saw fit. The Democratic leaders pleaded, but there were 100 new members in congress who had never learned the value of leadership. An abortion of a tax bill was passed by the house. It was sent to the senate, perfected some, but is still an abortion."

"If the sales tax provision had been kept, it would not now be necessary to have a lot of petty larceny provisions like the three-cent postage and two-cent check taxes. The bill was accepted by both houses and by the president because there could be no more delay of a balanced budget if our international credit was to be maintained."

"Pork Barrel" Hit

"Immediately the tax bill was out of the way, Garner, the house speaker and the man the Democrats selected as their vice presidential nominee, put up the Garner pork barrel bill—$2,500,000,000 for extravagant construction over the country without regard to needs. The combination that had previously run amuck, with the Garner followers forced it through the house. It went over to the senate and was sidetracked."

"Garner was surprised that any of us could afford to vote against the bill he had hastily designed for mere political expediency. For instance, it provided 35 new post-offices in my district alone. A typical example of its items was one for a $85,000 postoffice for the Del Monte Hotel, a postoffice which would have provided no other service than to make guests at that hotel walk a mile for the mail they had gotten before—and will continue to get—in the hotel lobby."

Substitute Passed

"A different type of bill, more in keeping with the president's plan, was formulated. The president had to threaten a veto to get anything like what was really needed. The new bill came out in the closing days of congress providing $500,000,000 in loans to states for unemployment relief, $322,000,000 for a building program for necessary structures, $1,500,000,000 to be loaned on income-producing projects, and also an appropriation for advances to agricultural organizations to assist in marketing their products. As finally passed the bill should bring considerable relief and employment."

"Another bill which was held back by the Democrats was the home loan bank bill, which was finally passed in the closing days of congress to relieve people who otherwise might lose their homes."

"By loans which can be repaid so that the nation's credit will not be affected these three bills will give relief to home owners, building and loan associations, banks, railroads, and advance loans through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for a great deal of necessary construction in road building and other projects throughout the country."

"With reference to prohibition, Free said: 'I favor permitting the people to vote upon an amendment to the 18th amendment allowing states to determine whether they will be wet or dry, but protecting states which desire to remain dry and particularly prohibiting the return of the saloon. I voted against the Beck-Linthicum resolution primarily because it permitted the return of the saloon.'

ACQUITTAL IN 3 BURLINGAME DOGS Die Of Poisoning

BURLINGAME, July 27.—Three pet dogs were dead and a $1000 imported Pinscher was critically ill as the result of the work of a dog poisoner in this community during the past 24 hours. All the dogs were pets of North Burlingame householders.

The Pinscher was owned by Elwood Knickerbocker, 2200 Hale drive, for which some hope was held out. The other dogs were the pets of Willis Thomas, 1424 De Soto avenue, and H. C. Elliott, 1508 Vancouver avenue. The fourth was unidentified.

To obtain a bar to strike Franchesi after an argument.

On the stand yesterday he changed this story, according to the district attorney's office, to one of self-defense, saying he grabbed the bar to defend himself when Franchesi came at him with a bucket.

On the cross-examination by District Attorney Edmund Scott, Fountain repeatedly said that he did not remember making certain statements in the purported confession.

Scott was assisted in the prosecution by Richard O. Bell and Harold F. Anderson, his assistants. Fountain was defended by Attorneys Carl Anderson and Fred Combs.

Fountain's brothers are Joe and E. J. Fountain of Sour Lake, and Hardy Fountain of Goose Creek, Tex.

MERCHANTS TO HAVE DINNER

Efforts In Behalf Of Home-Trading To Be Pressed

Redwood City merchants have decided to strike while the iron is hot.

Now that the trade-at-home movement is well under way, the merchants are going to consider ways to keep it going. A dinner will be held in the Fox Shoppe next Wednesday evening at 6:15, under the auspices of the retailers' division of the chamber of commerce, when speakers will be heard on the subject.

This decision was reached at a meeting in the chamber's office last evening. Among those present were Clarence Choate, James Hearne, A. W. Gerger, W. D. Ryan, Edward T. Harrison, Sam Winkiebleck, George McQueen, Dr. W. B. Langston and Howard I. Wood.

Ryan, local furniture man, will be chairman of the evening.

A committee, composed of Chairman Winkiebleck, Choate, Hearne, Ryan and Kendall Towne, will arrange the dinner and program.

Announcement will be sent out from the chamber of commerce, and all merchants are invited.

Pre-Opening Skeet Shoot To Be Sunday

New electrically-operated projecting equipment at the Redwood City Sportsmen's Club grounds will be in readiness for the pre-opening skeet shoot. Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, it was announced at a meeting of the club Monday by Art Mills, chairman of the skeet committee.

Electric equipment has been selected in preference to hand-operated projectors, and the informal shoot Sunday will be staged to familiarize members with the operation of the system prior to the official opening day program, which has been set for August 7.

Visitors are invited to be on hand Sunday to accustom themselves to the range and target throwing, and plans are now being made to handle a large crowd at the formal opening.

Mills is being assisted on the skeet committee by Hamilton Day and E. C. Ottman, with others to be appointed.

August 15 was set as the date for the monthly dinner program for sportsmen and their friends at the clubhouse.

The first of a series of monthly card parties sponsored by the sportsmen's club will be held during the latter part of August.

Wayne R. Millington, candidate for the assembly, was a guest of the club last night.

George J. Zenker presided.

NO SNAKE FOOD

QUINCY, Ill. — A group of amateur naturalists kept a few rattlesnakes. When it came feeding time they threw the husky reptiles a little mouse. Mr. Mouse vowed he'd not make snake fodder. He danced in and around the reptiles and, with lightning-like thrusts, bit their lips and chewed off their rattles. The naturalists, fearing for the lives of their snakes, hastily withdrew the rodent and freed it.

Wiping out of the 40-cent regular road tax levied in the outside areas of San Mateo county during the fiscal year 1932-33 and also the elimination of the 4-cent, 7 mill tax for county highway maintenance, were two outstanding requests made to the board of supervisors at a special budget hearing Monday.

The requests came from R. P. Scherwin, president of the Tax Reduction League of San Mateo.

Scherwin said this would affect about a $70,000 saving this year, which could be applied toward the costs of the elections and therefore make it possible for the board to give the people the reductions which they are demanding, he said.

The league spokesman reminded the board that it will get about $187,000 from the state for road purposes from the gasoline taxes, which was a sum, he said, which the county did not have when it was found necessary to levy the 40-cent road tax.

T. L. Hickey, South San Francisco supervisor, promised the committee in a lengthy talk that the board would go over the budget "with a safety razor," cutting out items as low as 50 cents if the departmental heads did not give good reasons why they should remain.

Hickey said it was the desire of the board to affect a substantial reduction, but if this would later prove an impossibility, reminded the audience that the board was responsible for but 7 per cent of the taxes, the other 93 per cent being fixed charges.

Hugh Pomeroy, advisor to the planning commission, who was in the audience, gave the amounts raised by the various taxing bodies as follows: 24 per cent raised by the county supervisors; 3 per cent raised by county districts (fire, light, sewer, etc.); 31 per cent raised by municipalities, and 42 per cent raised by schools.

Scherwin informed the board that it was not the purpose of his league to attack the record or intentions of the supervisors, saying that if times were normal he would not be there, but said that his chief purpose was to secure a reduction of taxes because there were many taxpayers who had no money to meet their bills.

Another request of the tax league was that the $1500 appropriated for killing predatory animals such as coyotes and bobcats be held up for a time until a study of the activity of the United States Biological Survey is concluded. Scherwin said he believed the cost of the kills were too high and suggested a bounty instead of a fixed annual sum.

This was answered by Frank Isodoro, a sheep raiser, who said that the actual number of kills could not be obtained from the survey's report, since many of the animals were poisoned and died without being found.

The tax league also asked the board to consider a revision of its legal rate for advertising, saying the board was paying more for space than a merchant. Scherwin asked that the board open the legal printing to competitive bidding. This matter the board referred to the district attorney for a legal opinion, and the other suggestions were ordered filed for consideration at future budget hearings.

The San Mateo county committee on unemployment relief asked the board to raise $2500 monthly, or $30,000 for the fiscal year, for this work next year. The group also asked the board to raise $2400 for the expense of the committee, which will be used at the rate of $200 per month. This will go toward expense of a stenographer, printing, telephone, etc.

Capt. Edward Macaulay, chairman of the body, said his group would continue to give their full services without pay.

The American-Italian Progressive Club urged the board to place a bond issue before the voters for unemployment relief.

Supervisor John Poole, Redwood City, urged that the board give consideration to something of a constructive nature so that a large sum would be made available for workers, but that the resultant endeavor would give the taxpayers something worthwhile for their money.

More county park areas or a centrally-located corporation yard were two suggestions.

Chairman Manuel Francis and Dr. C. V. Thompson, Burlingame supervisor, were absent. Poole presided as chairman.

A bridge more than two miles long, expected to be the largest in Europe, has been authorized in Denmark along the main railway line between Copenhagen, Berlin, and western Europe.

Menlo Park

Protest against the project was made by A. E. Roth, controller of Stanford, concurrently with the presentation to the city council of Menlo Park Tuesday of two petitions for the establishment of an amusement park and dog racing track.

The city council set next Tuesday night at 8 o'clock as the time of a public hearing on the controversial subject.

Promoters of the proposed concession are Edward J. Terry, Victor G. Du Pont, and John W. Morey, all of Menlo Park. Thirty persons identified with businesses in the city also signed a petition asking the council to grant the permit, on the ground that the dog racing track and park would give employment to a considerable number of Menlo Park's unemployed.

In their petition the promoters requested a permit to build a 3-16 of a mile track and grandstand at Kuck's picnic grounds on Oak Grove avenue, between the railroad tracks and the highway, "to conduct an amusement park with dog racing." They added: "This would give immediate employment to about 40 local unemployed who would be paid $4 per day. When the track is in operation we believe it will furnish work to 75 or 100 unemployed men and women of our city. This would relieve the unemployed situation which is very bad at this time. The residents of Menlo Park who patronize the track at Belmont would be the same ones that would patronize the track here, and it would also bring out of town money to Menlo Park."

Writing the Menlo Park council on the subject, Controller Roth said: "It seems inconceivable that a community of the type of Menlo Park would countenance an enterprise of this character, with its attendant evil of gambling. It is bad enough to have these gambling institutions located as near to the Base Hospital and the University as Belmont without having them located immediately adjacent to these two institutions."

"On behalf of the University I am writing to protest most vigorously against the granting of any such license, and it is our sincere hope that your council will deny the application."

Signing the petition supplementing that of the promoters were the following: William Haines, Irving F. Dunn, Peter Ricci, A. Hanzad, G. W. Bishop, C. W. Palmer, D. H. Shaw, J. H. Hannon, Mrs. Nellie C. Fletcher, F. Nessler, Staples, Theodore Morris, Mrs. R. Hobson, Frank Krauer, Luigi Boetto, John M. Rodgers, L. B. Wickersheim, Tony Alias, S. C. Douglass, Jean B. Hoss, R. Sorensen, E. J. McLoughlin, E. Harms, Louise Opeynde, C. Molteni, Rose A. Broggi, A. J. Kelly, J. White, W. R. Edmunds, Charles F. O'Neil.

The city engineer was authorized to prepare five maps of the City of Menlo Park, on certain rollers, at a cost of $150. He was also directed to submit an estimate of cost of clearing Creek drive, including the bank, of weeds and grass.

A food sale for the benefit of the unemployed will be held in the Piggy Wiggly store on Santa Cruz avenue Saturday, August 6. The committee in charge is composed of Mrs. Kate Derry, Mrs. T. Beach, Mrs. E. Crane, Mrs. G. Devoil, and Mr. John Heitzel.

With the state agreeing to the dismissal of other counts, James Logan, suspended captain of the San Mateo County Traffic Bureau, pleaded guilty Tuesday to being absent on July 6 from his post of duty.

Logan's defense was that he had gone to Reno on July 3 and was unable to return on July 5 because of a physical ailment. He said he did not know that it was necessary to secure permission to leave the state. He disagreed with the charge of Inspector Charles Reade that he was to have returned on July 4, saying through counsel that he had been given that day off by Reade. Inspector Reade, who brought the charges against Logan, said that Logan did not reveal to him that he planned to go to Reno over the week-end, but said merely that he wanted the day off. He said Logan did not get permission either to leave the county or state, and promised to be back for the heavy July 4 traffic.

Assemblyman William Hornblower, who defended Logan, disagreed with Attorney John A. McGilvray, representing the Department of Motor Vehicles, that it was necessary for Logan to get permission to leave the county.

Hornblower said to the trial board that the charge Logan left the state for a day did not rise to the dignity of stripping the captain of his office. He urged the board to find a recommendation of "extreme leniency."

Hornblower pointed out in defense of his plea that this was the first time that Logan had been tried on any charge in the 20 years he had been an officer and the seven years he had been a captain.

PATHETIC PICTURE
FORT WORTH — One of the most touching pictures ever seen in this city happened when a mother with a nine-month-old baby in her arms, and two small tots straggling behind her, were seen plodding through the streets on a hitch-hiking trip from Kelo, Wash., to Houston, Tex. Emergency Officers Carl Harmon and H. W. Carter gave the woman and her children a lift through the city.

Deer Population In State Reported Large By Wardens

August 1 marks the opening of the 1932 deer season in the coastal districts of two, two and one-half and three. These districts comprise the area extending from the northern boundary of Mendocino county on the north, to the southern boundary of Ventura county on the south. They embrace all counties with territory in that portion of the state lying west of the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers and extending to the Pacific ocean, as outlined by the State Fish and Game Commission.

The open area includes all of Mendocino, Colusa, Lake, Glenn, Sonoma, Yolo, Napa, Solano, Contra Costa, Marin, Alameda, San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Clara, San Benito, San Luis Obispo, Monterey, Santa Barbara and Ventura counties, and parts of San Joaquin, Merced, Sacramento, Stanislaus, Fresno, Kings and Kern counties. The season in these districts closes on the night of September 14. On September 15 the remainder of the state is thrown open to deer hunters.

Though the sale of deer tags is not up to last years record, the State Fish and Game Commission reports there is a last minute rush for the necessary licenses in all their branch offices.

Last year there were reported legally killed in California 25,805 deer.

State game wardens report deer numerous throughout the state, and more does with two fawns have been noted this year than for many years past.

Duck Clubs Active
News of the two-month duck season declared by President Hoover was received with enthusiasm in all parts of the state. Duck clubs that were unable to operate last year on account of the short season are expected to start repairing their dikes, conditioning their ponds, and later baiting them with grain. A revision on the bag limit laws of '31 pertaining to the Ruddy ducks was made yesterday when it was announced that there will be no legal shooting of that species of bird throughout the country this year.

Several of the local duck clubs are already working on their ponds while others intend to start flooding their properties next month.

Deaths Of Sisters Held Accidental

Coroner's inquest into the deaths of Mrs. Margaret Fay Peterson and her sister, Mary H. Kleeberger, who died July 20 when the car driven by Mrs. Peterson went over a cliff on the Skyline boulevard near the La Honda junction, resulted in verdicts of accidental death. The death of Walter F. Hughes, 153 Alexander street, Daly City, on death being returned in both cases here Monday. July 21, was due to acute cardiac dilation of the heart, the coroner's jury found.

Another 'Wildcat' Stage Driver Held

Robert L. Tripp, 21, was arrested last night in San Mateo by State Traffic Officer Frank Chevalier for driving an alleged "wildcat" stage.

He was booked at the county jail in lieu of $100 cash bail. Tripp was driving south on the Bayshore highway at the time of arrest.

The difference in level between Lake Superior and tidewater is about 600 feet.

SHORTRIDGE HAS PROVED TRUE FRIEND OF DAIRYING INTERESTS

United States Senator Samuel M. Shortridge's long and consistent fight to secure adequate tariff protection for California's gigantic dairy industry today had won for him the public commendation of Sam H. Greene, manager of the California Dairy Council.

In a statement issued from the council's headquarters in San Francisco, Greene declares that in all measures involving the interests of the dairy industry, "the senator's vote has been on the side of the dairymen."

He accords to Senator Shortridge the "major part of the credit for closing a wide breach in the wall of protection under which the American dairy industry has developed."

This loophole in the tariff act at the time of its consideration in 1930, Greene declares, was the tariff on casein, a cottage cheese made from skimmed milk, and one of the most valuable by-products of the dairy industry by virtue of its extensive use in manufacturing paper by the casein coating method.

Prior to passage of the tariff act of 1930, Greene declares, casein importations from Argentina ran as high as 18,000,000 pounds annually. Since the rate of 5 1/2 cents per pound was established, such importations have dropped to "insignificant proportions."

Reviewing Senator Shortridge's determined efforts to win a higher tariff on this commodity, which fight he carried to the floor of the senate after initial reverses in committee and in the house, the dairy chief states:

"The American casein market can now be said to be preserved to the American dairy industry. Senator Shortridge is well entitled to the long end of the credit for this achievement."

WOODSIDE, July 26.—Mrs. R. Mosher of Palo Alto was complimented at a luncheon given by the Misses Anne and Katherine Duzanica last week at their home on Santa Cruz road. The trustees of the Portola school held a public meeting on Friday evening at the schoolhouse to present the budget for the ensuing year for discussion. It was announced that there will be no cut in the teachers' salaries and that the special tax will be reduced from 30 cents to 15 cents. This reduction was made possible because of surplus funds gained by good attendance records. There was no protest to the budget as presented by the trustees. They are John Duzanica, clerk; August Seebach and D. W. Macdonough.

Mr. and Mrs. William Langley, formerly of Woodside, have enjoyed a vacation motor trip through the Pacific Northwest, including British Columbia and parts of Canada.

Outdoor games were played until refreshment time, when ice cream and the traditional birthday cake with candles were the feature.

GORDON DAVIS TO TAKE PART IN COMEDY Under the auspices of the Junior Auxiliary to the Stanford Convalescent Home, a revival of Frederick Lonsdale's comedy, "Aren't We All?" is being arranged for August 17. Gordon Davis, who is in Palo Alto this summer from Detroit, will direct the play and take the leading part as he did when it was given at Stanford a few years ago. It will be presented in the Palo Alto high school auditorium. Two performance will probably be given, with the second on Thursday night, the 18th. Proceeds will go to the home for convalescent children.

The comedy will be remembered as one of the hits of the Stanford stage a few seasons ago. The leads were played by Mr. Davis and Miss Elizabeth Wilbur, who returned to Palo Alto this summer as a professional to take twin roles in the play, "She Got Away With It," written by her mother, Mrs. Elene Wilbur, and Dr. Henry David Gray. This play was presented last week-end, a large first night audience and an even larger Saturday evening crowd under the auspices of the Palo Alto Humane Society. The sponsoring organization plans to turn over $100 to the Palo Alto Women's Service League for its relief work among the unemployed and to have some money left over for its own activities.

Many requests have been made for a third performance but no decision has been reached in the matter.

Travel is very cheap this year. If father has a month's enforced vacation, the family has to eat somewhere. They buy gas if they stay at home, and they might just as well dig out the old camping stuff and go somewhere as sit around home thinking about troubles and talking with the neighbors about them.

It's hot and muggy and sad in the cities. But out in the woods the trees and grasses are still growing and the water is flowing and the fish are biting, and they taste just as good this year as they ever did. Better, in fact, because a good panful of fish saves the price of a hot-roast. — Santa Rosa Press-Democrat.

INQUEST IN SLAYING IS HELD HERE

Coroner's Jury Sees Case As One Of Murder-Suicide

Returning a verdict of homicide and suicide in the deaths of Mrs. Edith Orr Spencer, wealthy Menlo Park widow, and John Viano, head gardener at the Spencer estate, a coroner's jury at an inquest here on Monday accepted testimony which exonerated Vincent Cruz, Filipino houseboy, of any implication in the tragedy of Wednesday night.

Cruz accounted for his whereabouts on the fatal night to the satisfaction of the jury by testifying that he had left the Menlo Park estate at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday to spend the night at his wife's apartment in San Francisco, and that upon carrying Mrs. Spencer's breakfast tray to her bedroom soon after his return Thursday morning he became aware for the first time that "something had happened."

After Narciso Paulino, assistant gardener, had testified that he had missed Viano when it was discovered that the sprinklers on the estate had been going all night, Cruz took the stand and described the finding of Mrs. Spencer's body in Viano's quarters above the garage. He said that he and Paulino had gone immediately to the latter's car to notify the Menlo Park police.

Helping to clear Cruz was the testimony of Kenyon Spencer, nephew of the late Franklin M. Spencer, who stated from the stand that he did not believe the houseboy was involved in the tragedy, which he attributed to Viano's loneliness since the death of Spencer May 21.

The nephew declared that he had read Viano's letters to Mrs. Spencer while the gardener was visiting his native town in Italy last year and that they contained nothing to indicate there were any intimacies of any kind between employer and employee.

Under later questioning by Dr. J. C. McGovern, coroner, Cruz admitted that he had been in trouble with the juvenile authorities in Portland when he was 16 but said that he had had no subsequent police record. He said he had owed Viano $225 at one time but had paid back all but $25 of it and that he (Cruz) had drawn $50 in advance pay Tuesday.

Chief of Police Frank Love of Menlo Park and Deputy Sheriff Thomas Maloney stated that they had checked the statements of Cruz and found them to be correct.

Chief Love said that two shots had been fired from the .32 caliber automatic pistol found near Viano's body and that six cartridges remained in the chamber. Mrs. Spencer had been shot through the right eye, the bullet emerging behind the left ear, and the shot which caused Viano's death passed through his head from the right side, Dr. Herbert A. Clattenburg testified.

"Gun shot wound through the head, deceased having been shot by John Viano—homicide" was the jury verdict in Mrs. Spencer's death, and that in Viano's was "suicide."

EAGLES DOWN PEERLESS

By EL THOMAS

Varying fortunes of the Redwood City Eagles during the past few weeks took an upward trend here Sunday as Pete Lawler and Ken Farrell came to the rescue to give the Eagles a 6 to 4 victory over the Peerless Laundry, which was previously undefeated in the second half of the Peninsula Baseball League.

It was a home run by Lawler with two men on bases in the last of the eighth inning that put the Eagles into their 6-4 lead after the Peerless outfit had scored three runs in their half of the same frame.

Farrell, who returned to the Eagle fold after a brief fling with the Moose club, contributed the fielding sensations of the day when he broke up three sure hits with difficult stops. He speared Engler's line drive at third in the second inning and made four assists on plays that had been nearly certain of cracking the scoreless tie that prevailed during the first four innings.

Elsworth Hatley was working in brilliant fashion on the mound for the local nine and let the laundrymen down with three hits for the day. Three walks and a couple of errors nearly cost his team the game, but Lawler's stick-work turned the tide. Howard, newly recruited catcher, handled Hatley well.

The Eagles cracked the ice in the fifth on consecutive hits by Jordan, Lawler and Stephens, coupled with a boot that allowed Ray Farrell to get a life.

Killilea's two-bagger brought in Howard in the sixth to offset the Peerless run in that frame.

Visitors Take Lead

The laundry nine took a 4-3 lead in the first of the eighth. Flack and Guerrero drew passes and the former scored when Kincannon was safe on an error. Another error allowed the latter two to tally.

Ken Farrell opened for the Eagles with a double and raced to third on Killilea's base hit. Then came Lawler, the portly outfielder, with the circuit clout that did the trick.

Stephens, Killilea and Lawler garnered two hits apiece off Flack, who allowed a total of nine hits. The box scores:

PROCLAMATION

Fellow Citizens: A campaign is now in progress, sponsored by The First National Bank, to encourage local business by trading in Redwood City.

It becomes my duty as your mayor to appeal to all residents of Redwood City to give this campaign a generous measure of their support. We owe to our merchants, who support our local government by the payment of taxes and who are ever in the fore in contributing to worthy public welfare projects, an obligation to favor them with our patronage.

President Hoover has placed the burden of unemployment relief on the local communities. Your money spent in Redwood City will accomplish much in relieving the local situation by putting more people on local payrolls.

Help make Redwood City more prosperous by your trade in Redwood City. WILLIAM J. DUSEL.
